

SCOOP4C Newsletter No. 14

Dear stakeholder community,

More than a year and half of work are behind us here at the SCOOP4C project with only 6 months to go. To finalize our project's work and present our results, there will be a second joint conference on the once-only principle together with our partner project TOOP.

Please save the date for this event which will be held in Vienna, Austria on September 24th and 25th, 2018 - more information to follow soon.

Furthermore, this past month we have been eager to discuss the issues that are most relevant to EU citizens when it comes to sharing data across borders especially in the light of the new GDPR: data protection and privacy concerns. Our privacy workshop 'Transparent Citizen by Default?' in Brussels last week has given us great insights into the privacy and trust debate which we are eager to include into our research.

What else has been happening around the once-only principle and the SCOOP4C project? Find out below!

Kind regards,

The SCOOP4C project team

'Transparent Citizen by Default?' workshop pushed privacy discussion regarding once-only

Last week, SCOOP4C organized a stakeholder workshop surrounding data protection and privacy issues regarding once-only implementations. Participants from the civil, public and private sector participated to discuss concerns and solutions. Find all workshop materials here:
